LOTUSLAND X SULLIVAN GOSS: WHERE THE WILD THINGS GROW

JUNE 30 - JULY 24, 2023

OPENING AND ARTIST'S RECEPTION:
1ST THURSDAY, JULY 6TH | FROM 5-8pm

SANTA BARBARA, CA - Sullivan Goss is excited to announce a contemporary artistic collaboration with Ganna Walska Lotusland to present Where the Wild Things Grow. The exhibition will showcase work by over twenty five local and regional artists inspired by the rare specimens and unique atmosphere of Lotusland's cultivated landscape. A portion of the proceeds from sales of the artwork will be donated to the Garden.

"We're so thankful to partner with Sullivan Goss for this exhibition. We have met some incredible artists at the Garden over the past few weeks and have watched their artistic vision unfold firsthand," said Rebecca Anderson, Executive Director for Lotusland. "Patrons to the gallery will surely be impressed. This exhibition is a part of our year-long celebration of our 30th anniversary," said Anderson. Lotusland opened to the public in 1993 and has several celebratory events lined up throughout the year. Lotusland is a nonprofit with a mission to preserve and enhance the unique, historic estate of Madame Ganna Walska, care for and improve its collection, and develop its conservation and horticulture programs so they can educate, inspire, and advance the understanding and appreciation of the importance of plants in our lives and in the life of the planet.

The artists of Where the Wild Things Grow bring a contemporary eye to the tradition of botanical art. While the 19th century saw naturalist artists recording botany and wildlife with precise illustrations, 21st century artists have a different agenda. For this new generation, nature's endless diversity of design is pared down to only essential shapes as the focus is more on color and design than botanical accuracy.
